

International Disclaimer

The health claims we share with you in our communication come from:

- Experienced doctors, specialists and professors in Asian and other countries.
- Thousands of years of professional experience with these 100% natural and vegan super products in Eastern medicine.
- Extensive research that is openly available on the internet.

However, in Europe, the USA and a few other countries, these claims are not allowed to be made due to strict authority rules. Most health claims are the exclusive domain of patented synthetic drugs and products.

By law, we are required to publish the following disclaimer.

- Natural supplements are not a medicine or intended to diagnose, treat, or cure any disease.
- Supplements do not replace a varied and balanced diet.
- A healthy lifestyle remains important.
- Always consult your doctor or healthcare provider first, if you are pregnant, breastfeeding or taking pharmaceutical medicines.
- Discontinue use in case of hypersensitivity reactions and consult your doctor.
- Keep out of the reach of children.
- The authorities forbid our company to publish testimonials about the effects of our 100% natural health products on our website or social media channels. High fines apply for this.
